

Tom Parette

tparette@us.ibm.com
<http://www.tomparette.com>

Tom Parette is an IBM Certified Consulting I/T architect presently assigned to one of the largest banks in the U.S. In this role he provides technical guidance to I/T executives as well as bank architects, project teams and developers.

Tom's specific area's of expertise are in the area of web based infrastructure, IBM middleware (WebSphere, MQSeries) IBM development tools (WebSphere Application Developer), mainframe integration, Linux and mobile communications technology.

Prior to his present assignment Tom was the lead architect and development manager for a team that developed sales force automation and dealer logistic systems for the automotive and heavy equipment industry having developed one of the first web based dealer automation systems.

Tom has over 20 years experience with IBM in the I/T industry and is a member of the Association for Computing Machinery and the Internet Society.